[verse 1]
```
      D                                        G
I got paged at 3 this morning. Jolted from sleep without warning.
  D                         A
I felt like I'd been hit by a car.
            D                              G
But there's no more time for rest. Got to log on and do my best.
          D            A         D
There's time to sleep after the BAAR.
```

[chorus]
```
        G            D
At the BAAR, at the BAAR.
                                    A
Time to look around and see where we are.
        D             D7            G              Em
We can learn from our mistakes and see what improvement takes.
        D          A          D
That's why we all come to the BAAR.
```

[verse 2]
```
          D                              G
I've been at this thing all night, but it still isn't quite right.
        D                        A
These batches are running slow as tar.
            D                           G
Now I've got an empty belly, and my office chair is smelly.
        D                A                 D
Good thing no one can smell you at the BAAR.
```

[chorus]
```
        G            D
At the BAAR, at the BAAR.
                                    A
Time to look around and see where we are.
        D             D7            G              Em
We can learn from our mistakes and see what improvement takes.
        D          A          D
That's why we all come to the BAAR.
```

[verse 3]
```
            D                                          G
What's that smoke off in the distance? Is it a melting compute instance?
   D                                     A
I can't tell what it is from this far.
         D                              G
Is it a glorious funeral pyre, or a smoldering dumpster fire?
       D           A         D
We'll get it sorted out at the BAAR.
```

[chorus]
```
        G           D
At the BAAR, at the BAAR.
                                    A
Time to look around and see where we are.
        D             D7            G              Em
We can learn from our mistakes and see what improvement takes.
        D         A         D
That's why we all come to the BAAR.
```

[verse 4]
```
        D                       G
We can handle any case, or incident that we might face.
        D                          A
If you think we're exaggerating, we are.
          D                                      G
Though my command line chops are strong, they can sometimes turn out wrong.
       D          A           D
Let's talk about a runbook at the BAAR.
```

[chorus]
```
        G           D
At the BAAR, at the BAAR.
                                    A
Time to look around and see where we are.
        D             D7            G              Em
We can learn from our mistakes and see what improvement takes.
        D         A         D
That's why we all come to the BAAR.
```

```
[verse 5]
        D                                       G
I keep dealing with this crap, and I just want to take a nap.
      D                         A
This is my most exhausted by far.
          D                               G
Crack a monster and pour it in, now I've got my second wind!
              D             A           D
And now it's gone, could you carry me to the BAAR?

[chorus]
        G           D
At the BAAR, at the BAAR.
                                    A
Time to look around and see where we are.
        D               D7              G                   Em
We can learn from our mistakes and see what improvement takes.
        D         A         D
That's why we all come to the BAAR.

[verse 6]
          D                                       G
Once I've found my happy place, that's when it blows up in my face.
    D                                   A
At least I think that's how I got this scar.
        D                               G
Every bug is an adventure, though my reaction should be censored.
      D           A             D
I'll tell you all about it at the BAAR.

[final chorus]
        G           D
At the BAAR, at the BAAR.
                                        A
If you look around, you'll see we've come so far.
        D               D7              G                   Em
We can learn from our mistakes and see what improvement takes.
        D         A         D
That's why we all come to the BAAR.
